Trade Finance and E-Commerce in Iran

After a very successful seminar in 2017, AIJA and the Iran Central Bar Association (ICBA) are planning another joint event addressing issues of international business law in February 2018. We have an exciting setup in mind consisting of a 2 day program:

14th February – Trade Finance

The first day of the event shall focus on the financing of cross-border transactions, including the finance of international projects in Iran in the post-JCPOA era. The event will feature highly qualified speakers from both AIJA and the ICBA with simultaneous translation into Persian/English.

15th February – E-Commerce in Iran

The second part of the event shall have a workshop character and be conducted in English language only. Considering its population being tech-savvy, having logistic facilities and accessibility to internet and smart phones, Iran is considered as a big and interesting market for e-commerce businesses. This seminar will discuss the opportunities and legal challenges that such businesses face when entering the Iranian market.

This jointly organized event is a unique opportunity for international lawyers to meet local practicing lawyers from Iran and discuss hot topics in international business law.
